

PER CAPITA CIRCULATION LESS

Were All Money in U. S. Divided Each Person Would Have $34.52

Washington, D. C., July 6.—A decrease in circulation per capita of 49 cents on July 1, as compared with a year ago, is shown by the latest Treasury statement on the subject. On July 1, 1909, the amount which each man, woman and child in the United States would have been paid were all the money equally divided was $35.01. Last Friday it was $34.52.

The amount of money in circulation on July 1 was greater than a year ago, but the population increased in greater proportion than did the money.

MINER SAYS HE FOUND THE COOK RECORDS

Colorado Springs, Col., July 6.—P. J. Carrigan, a seaman and former Alaskan miner, who is here searching for a former mining comrade, today made the claim that he had ascended Mt. McKinley in Alaska and had there found the records which Dr. Cook, the discredited Arctic explorer, claimed to have left on the summit of the mountain.

According to Carrigan's story, which John R. Bradley, the millionaire and former backer of Dr. Cook, is inclined to believe is true, he found on reaching the summit of Mount McKinley a copper tube containing records and an American flag, sticking out of a crevice in a boulder in such a way that it would attract the notice of anyone coming within a hundred feet of it.

AVIATOR'S MACHINE WRECKED

Arch Hoxsey Dives 100 Feet When Engine Goes Dead

Pittsburg, Kan., July 6.—Arch Hoxsey, in a Wright biplane, dived almost straight downward from a height of 100 feet here yesterday after his engine had gone dead. The machine was demolished, but Hoxsey crawled out from a mass of planes, wires and stays unhurt.

It was the last day of a four days' aviation meet here. Hoxsey was soaring along evenly at a height of 500 feet, when his motor stopped. Hoxsey tilted his planes and had floated down gently to about 100 feet from the ground, when one of the plane's stay gave way, the aeroplane's nose dropped and the machine crashed to earth.

CUTTING THEM OUT

The presentation of the Jeffries-Johnson prize fight moving pictures have already been prohibited in fifty large cities and in seven states. Governor Hadley says that if the exhibition of these pictures in Missouri can be prohibited by law he will order the law enacted. It is hoped that the last bruising match in the United States has been pulled off.

KRYL WITH CORNET—KRYL'S BAND OF 50 COMING TO CHAUTAUQUA

What a world of pleasant anticipation there is in the announcement that "Bohumir Kryl and his band of fifty are coming to the chautauqua." How eagerly all of those who heard the world's greatest cornetist at the head of his great band at the chautauqua last year will look forward to this opportunity of hearing him at the head of a much larger and even better musical organization at the Monett chautauqua on Musical Festival day, Wednesday July 20th.

Don't you remember the great concert last year, the Hungarian Rhapsodies, the Hunting Scene, the Sextette from Lucia, the Soldier's Dream, the last, but not least, that side convulsing, never to be forgotten "Pizzicati Polka" as rendered by Kryl? You remember how enthusiastic the audiences would grow over the selections, and they would demand, and frequently get, three or four encores on one selection.

The new programs are out. They are even better than last year's phenomenal successes, for last year was Mr. Kryl's first year in the chautauqua work, and realizing the possibilities of the chautauqua movement and seeing the appreciation of the chautauqua audiences he has planned some unusually big surprises for the concert on Musical Festival day.

GRAVEL THE STREETS

A subscriber to the TIMES reminded us the other day that Carthage, a town with the best streets in the southwest has not a foot of street paving. The streets are first graded then covered with gravel. Aurora's graveled streets are the pride of its people. Let the property owners of some one street of Monett take the initiative and in less than two years we will have good streets.

The Associated chautauquas are the only assemblies which have the honor of presenting the Kryl band in its entirety, as Mr. Kryl brings to us the same organization, the same soloists and the same instrumentation that he uses in the large eastern city engagements; just fifteen more musicians than he carries when he plays chautauqua engagements arranged by Bureaus for independent assemblies. We get him direct. Few of our people know that Bohumir Kryl is a sculptor. When the late General Lew Wallace had written Ben Hur and found that he had created a masterpiece, there came a demand that his features be preserved to the future in enduring marble. General Wallace consented and a search was made for the man best fitted to do the work. Choice fell on a young Bohemian—Bohumir Kryl, then engaged on the great soldier monument in Indianapolis whose carving had attracted wide attention. Kryl went to Crawfordsville, and the world knows with what success the task was carried out. It was about the last piece of sculpture that Kryl did—and his best. Immediately thereafter, at the suggestion of Sousa, Kryl laid down the chisel forever and adopted the cornet as his future instrument of artistic expression. The result is the world lost a fine sculptor, but gained the greatest cornetist it has ever known.

Human Life for July

Human Life occupies a niche peculiarly its own in the literary temple of fame because it is the only magazine which deals exclusively with stories about living people. In some issue throughout the year will be found the fresh and fascinating life story of every man and woman who is helping to make present day American history, together with numerous shorter sketches of clever and interesting people who are doing things out of the ordinary.

The July issue contains the story of Congressman Norris of Nebraska, the "little corporal" of the insurgents who battered down the Bastille of Cannonism. His life story is strong in human interest, as showing the influences which moulded the man.

There are other good things galore. Down in Connecticut a Mr. and Mrs. Charles Barnard are conducting a Housekeeping Experiment Station and gathering invaluable information for reducing the cost of living. The story of George C. Boldt, the prince of hotel proprietors, is the first of a series relating to the great American captain of industry.

Father and boys called on Col. Roosevelt at his office today to bid him goodbye. The colonel was entertaining a party of Colorado friends, but had the Abernathys ushered in at once and introduced them as "his marshal and his two boys."

Friends of the marshal and his boys tendered them a farewell luncheon at the Astor at noon.

BIRTHDAY OF DAILY TIMES

Today, July 7, the MONETT DAILY TIMES enters upon the third year of its existence and we are proud of the fact that we can truthfully say that it is the best and newest newspaper ever published in Monett. The TIMES is also the leading newspaper in Barry county.

Ten years ago the TIMES was started by the present proprietor as a seven column folio weekly sheet in a field already covered by two newspapers. We advanced to a five column quarto, then to a six column quarto, then to a semi-weekly and lastly to a six folio daily and an eight quarto weekly, all home print.

We believe that we are justified in feeling somewhat proud of our ten years labor in the city and we are going to promise right now that we will continue to improve the TIMES from year to year, and we shall hope for and expect the continued good will and patronage of the progressive people of Barry and Lawrence counties.

A failing tin nerve—no larger than the finest silken thread—takes from the heart its impulse its power, its regularity. The Stomach also has its hidden, or inside nerves. It was Dr. Shoop who first told us it was wrong to drug a weak or failing Stomach, Heart or Kidneys. His prescription—Dr. Shoop's Restorative—is directed straight for cause of these ailments—these weak and faltering inside nerves. This, no doubt clearly explains why the Restorative has of late grown so rapidly in popularity. Druggists say that those who test the Restorative even for a few days soon become fully convinced of its wonderful merit. Any way, don't drug the organ. Treating the cause of sickness is the only sensible and successful way. Sold by All Dealers.
